KeriCure Medical Announces Partnership with North American Rescue

TAMPA, FL – [July 16, 2025] — KeriCure Medical, a leading innovator in advanced wound and burn care solutions, is proud to announce a new partnership with North American Rescue®, LLC (NAR®), a respected leader in medical solutions for military, law enforcement, and emergency response professionals, as well as for workplace safety, sportsmen, and outdoor lifestyle enthusiasts.

NAR will be offering KeriCure Medical's Field Shield® Wound Dressing and KeriCleans® Antiseptic Wound Cleanser. Both spray-on products are compact, easy to apply, and ideal for wound and burn protection in prehospital and tactical settings. In addition to field use, these products also support preventative care and medical training scenarios, allowing frontline personnel and their providers to reinforce preventative care hygiene and protection protocols in the field and field training environments.

"North American Rescue is focused on equipping responders with reliable, mission-ready tools that increase survivability and improve patient outcomes. Partnering with KeriCure Medical helps us expand our wound and burn care offerings with products that are intuitive, compact, and effective in the field," said Dave Jones, Executive Director of Military Sales at North American Rescue.

"We're proud to partner with an organization like NAR that shares our passion for supporting those who serve," said Kerriann Greenhalgh, PhD, Founder & CEO of KeriCure Medical. "Our goal has always been to simplify wound care without sacrificing efficacy — and this partnership allows us to put those tools in the hands of people who need them most."
