

NORTH AMERICAN RESCUE®

PRIVACY STATEMENT

1. Overview

At North American Rescue, LLC (NAR), like our parent Henry Schein, Inc., your privacy is important to us. We process personal information in different contexts, and we do so by respecting your privacy, as part of our unwavering commitment to ethical and responsible practices and as required by law.

This Privacy Statement sets forth the principles that govern our treatment of personal information. All employees and those with whom we share personal information must adhere to this Privacy Statement.

NAR is committed to protecting the personal information that our employees, customers, prospects, suppliers, and vendors have entrusted to us. We collect and use personal information in order to perform our business functions and provide quality products and services to our customers. This Privacy Statement applies to personal information in any format or medium, relating to employees, customers, vendors, and others who do business with NAR.

Our website contains links to other websites. These websites are not covered by this Privacy Statement, and we are not responsible for the privacy practices or the content of these other websites.

2. Categories of personal information we collect and use

NAR recognizes personal information as any information that identifies, relates to, describes, is capable of being associated with, or could reasonably be linked, directly or indirectly, with a particular individual or household. Depending on the context of your interactions with NAR, we may collect and use different types of personal information from current and prospective employees, contractors, current and prospective customers, and vendors.

Our record retention schedule prescribes maximum retention periods of information for business, legal, or operational requirements. Generally, data in the categories below is retained between 6 and 10 years or as otherwise stated below.

3. Categories of sources of personal information

NAR receives and uses various types of personal information in order to conduct our day-to-day business activities. We apply the data minimization principle in the collection and use of personal information with the aim to only collect information that is necessary and by fair means and providing notice and requiring consent when necessary.

We may collect categories of personal information listed above from the following categories of sources:

- Third party vendors
- Recruitment or talent agencies
- Our distributors
- When you browse, or use our website, e-commerce services, or social media pages
- Our business partners (non-vendors)
- Joint marketing partnerships
- Publicly-available non-government and government data
- Contractors (e.g., consultants, agents and representatives)
- Consumer reporting agencies
- Covered individuals' email accounts, chat logs, social media accounts
- Covered individuals' devices
- Directly from covered individuals
- From other individuals, such as friends or family
- Other Company entities
- Third parties (e.g. data brokers)

Some of this data is collected in the following situations when:

- You apply for a position, or to do business, with our company

- We establish a contractual commercial or employment relationship
- You provide us with any type of service, as a vendor
- When we provide you with any type of service, product or support
- When you browse, or use our website, e-commerce services, or social media pages

4. Business uses and purposes for which personal information was collected

The purposes for which we collect and use your personal information may vary depending on the type of relationship you have with us, such as if you are one of our employees, customers, or a website user. The use of personal information for new purposes should be consistent with and meet privacy expectations described in this Privacy Statement, otherwise we will request your authorization.

Generally, we collect, use and disclose your personal information to provide you with products and services and as otherwise related to the operation of our business. For more specific detail on our disclosures of personal information, see the next section “Sharing and Disclosures to Third Parties.” Subject to restrictions and obligations of applicable laws, NAR and our vendors may use your personal information for some or all the following business purposes:

- Processing Interactions and Transactions
- Managing Interactions and Transactions
- Performing Services
- Research and Development
- Fulfilling regulatory requirements and Quality Assurance
- Security
- Debugging

In addition, we may collect, use and disclose your personal information for the following additional operational business purposes for which we are providing you notice as permitted by applicable law:

- Employees and candidates: if you apply for a job, we use your personal information to consider you for employment and to administer your account. If you have an employment or commercial relationship with NAR, we use your personal information to develop our contractual relationship, to conduct performance evaluations, and to comply with legal obligations, including tax and labor regulations.
- Customers: we use our customers’ information to maintain our commercial relationship, to ensure the proper operation of the day-to-day business, to comply with tax and other regulations, and to administer sales and marketing activities.
- Prospective customers: information from prospective customers are used to respond to their requests for information, products or services, and for marketing activities.
- Vendors and suppliers: if you have a business or professional relationship with NAR, we will use your information to develop and conduct our business relationship with you, and to comply with tax and other regulations.
- Visitors of company facilities: some of our buildings have physical access controls and video surveillance systems for security purposes.
- Website and social media users: we collect personal information from visitors and users of our website and social media pages. We use the information to manage your account registration, to store your preferences and settings, to provide interest-based advertising, to conduct statistics and to analyze how you use our website and online services.

NAR will use personal information for purposes disclosed above. To the extent required by law, NAR will inform the individual if their personal information will be used for an additional purpose, and this disclosure shall occur prior to the data being so used, and the individual shall be given a mechanism to provide their consent.

As permitted by applicable law, we do not treat deidentified data or aggregate customer information as personal information and we reserve the right to convert, or permit others to convert, your personal information into deidentified data or aggregate consumer information. We have no obligation to re-identify such information to respond to your requests.

Our customers may engage service providers or subcontractors to enable them to perform services on our behalf. This sub-processing is, for purposes of clarity, an additional business purpose for which we are providing you notice.

In addition, we may collect, use and disclose your personal information as required or permitted by applicable law.

5. Sharing and Disclosures to Third Parties

At times, NAR engages third-party contractors, service providers, and other vendors to help us accomplish our business objectives. When NAR discloses personal information for a business purpose, we enter a contract that describes the purpose and requires the recipient to both keep that personal information confidential and not use it for any purpose except performing the contract. There are other circumstances where we are required by law to disclose personal information to third parties such as public authorities.

- Processing Interactions and Transactions
- Managing Interactions and Transactions
- Performing Services
- Research and Development
- Fulfilling regulatory requirements and Quality Assurance
- Security
- Debugging

We engage with third-party contractors, service providers, and other vendors for certain services. If the engagement involves the transmission of personal information, NAR directs the service provider to treat that data consistent with legal requirements. A contract to protect personal information should be executed before any data is disclosed.

In certain circumstances, NAR may be required to disclose personal information when required by law, when required to protect our legal rights, or in an emergency situation where the health or security of an individual is endangered.

We may also disclose personal information in the context of any sale or transaction involving all or a portion of the business.

6. Our Policy Towards Children

Our services are not directed to children. If a parent or guardian becomes aware that his or her child has provided us with personal information without their consent, please contact us. If we become aware that a child has registered for a service and has provided us with personal information, we will delete such information from our files.

7. Security

NAR is committed to the security, confidentiality, and integrity of personal information in accordance with legal requirements. We take commercially reasonable precautions to keep personal information secure against unauthorized access and use and we periodically review our security measures. We are committed to processing your data in a secure manner and have put in place specific technical and organizational measures to prevent the personal information we hold from being accidentally or deliberately compromised. Our employees participate in a training and compliance program and are required to safeguard your information.

NAR uses DigiCert, Inc. for its sites' security certificates. Please be aware that these protection tools do not protect information that is not collected through our website, such as information provided to us by e-mail.

We also conduct information risk assessments, we train our staff to understand the importance of protecting personal information, and we are responsibly managing access rights within the company. We include both physical security and IT security in our overall data security approach. We are diligent in selecting vendors that process personal information on our behalf so that they also ensure appropriate technical and organizational measures to protect the data.

NAR makes reasonable efforts to notify individuals and regulatory authorities, as required by law, if we reasonably believe that personal information has been stolen, disclosed, altered, or infringed by an unauthorized person.

We also endorse the concept of privacy by design which is an approach to projects that promotes privacy and data protection compliance from the outset. This means considering the privacy and security implications for any new project or process throughout its lifecycle.

8. Your data protection rights and choices

If you reside or otherwise find yourself in jurisdictions with data protection laws, NAR is committed to supporting your rights granted by such applicable data protection laws. Otherwise, you can contact us at any time to discuss your privacy concerns.

Under certain circumstances, you may have the privacy rights described in this section. Any request you submit to us is subject to an identification and verification process. We will not fulfill your request unless you have provided sufficient information for us to reasonably verify you are the individual about whom we collected personal information.

If you require this notice to be provided in a different format, please submit the request to NAR by emailing legal@narescue.com.

If we cannot comply with a request, we will explain the reasons in our response. We will use personal information provided in a verifiable request only to verify your identity or authority to make the request and to track and document request responses.

We will make commercially reasonable efforts to identify personal information that we collect, process, store, disclose and otherwise use and to respond to your applicable privacy rights requests. In some cases, we may suggest that you receive the most recent or a summary of your personal information and give you the opportunity to elect whether you want the rest. We will typically not charge a fee to fully respond to your requests; however, we may charge a reasonable fee, or refuse to act upon a request, if your request is excessive, repetitive, unfounded, or overly burdensome. If we determine that the request warrants a fee, or that we may refuse it, we will give you notice explaining why we made that decision. You will be provided with a cost estimate and the opportunity to accept such fees before we charge you for responding to your request.

Pursuant to applicable data protection laws, your privacy rights may include the following:

Information Rights:

You may have the right to send us a request, no more than twice in a twelve-month period, for any of the following for the period that is 12 months prior to the request date:

- The categories of personal information we have collected about you.
- The categories of sources from which we collected your personal information.
- The business or commercial purposes for our collecting your personal information.
- The categories of third parties to whom we have shared your personal information.
- The specific pieces of personal information we have collected about you.

- A list of the categories of personal information disclosed for a business purpose in the prior 12 months, or that no disclosure occurred.

To make a request, email us at legal@narescue.com.

Obtaining Copies of Personal Information:

You may have the right to obtain a copy, no more than twice in a twelve-month period, of your personal information that we have collected and are maintaining. To make a request, email us at legal@narescue.com.

Do Not Sell:

We do not sell personal information.

Right to Limit Use and Disclosure of Sensitive Personal Information:

You may direct us to limit the use and disclosure of your Sensitive Personal Information to uses/disclosures that are reasonably necessary to provide our goods and services, or as needed: to ensure security and integrity; to prevent fraud or illegal activity; for physical safety; for short-term, transient use, including for non-personalized advertising; to perform services on behalf of the business; and to verify or maintain the quality or safety of a service or device owned, manufactured, manufactured for, or controlled by us, and to improve, upgrade, or enhance such services or devices. To limit our use of your Sensitive Personal Information, please click here [link to opt-out form].

Rights Related to Automated Decision-Making:

NAR does not use automated decision-making as relevant to this Privacy Statement.

Delete:

Except to the extent we have a basis for retention under applicable law, you may request pursuant to applicable law that we delete your personal information that we have collected and are maintaining. Our retention rights include, without limitation, complete transactions and service you have requested or that are reasonably anticipated, for security purposes, for legitimate internal business purposes, including maintaining business records, to comply with law, to exercise or defend legal claims, and to cooperate with law enforcement. To make a request, email us at legal@narescue.com.

We will not discriminate against you in a manner prohibited by applicable law because you exercise your privacy rights. You may have the right to exercise these rights via an authorized agent who meets the agency requirements of the applicable law.

Mailings & Calls.

If you supply us with an e-mail address, you may receive periodic e-mails from us with information about new products and services or upcoming events. If you do not wish to receive such, you may “opt out” by e-mailing us at the address listed in 10.

FTC/European Regulatory Authorities.

NAR will reasonably cooperate with inquiries made by the Federal Trade Commission or European regulatory authorities.

9. Changes to this Privacy Statement

We reserve the right to modify this Privacy Statement and related business practices at any time. We will inform you of any changes by posting changes here. It is your responsibility to check for updates.

The effective date in the footer indicates the last date it was revised.

10. Contact information

If you have any privacy concerns or questions about how your personal information is used, please feel free to contact us.
